

REACH POLICY

Falcon Electronics, LLC is an authorized distributor of electronic components (discrete and integrated circuits) commonly referred to as articles under the REACH definition. Since these articles do not release any substances during normal use they do not need to be registered. Although, if the substances in our products are considered Substances of Very High Concern (SVHC) it is the responsibility of the manufacturer to inform the customer of the substance.

The manufacturers of electronics components are the only source of accurate information regarding the chemical substances used in the production of their components.

Since we distribute for manufacturers who have been qualified by your company, we have listed on our website the appropriate link to the manufacturer's website for you to gather information related to their compliance with REACH regulations.